BIGGER THAN THE IMPERATOR

The latest steamer of the Hamburg America line, which was launched on June 20th, surpasses her sister ships Imperator and Vaterland in size; for she has a displacement of no less than 65,000 tons. At the same time, in the matter of safety appliances against accidents she outclasses all existing vessels. The forehold is divided into compartments by means of several watertight decks, and the remaining holds down to the engine rooms are made safe by means of water-tight longitudinal partitions and decks. On the occasion of the recent collision in the channel, these water-tight compartments proved most effective. Fire-tight doors are provided to all the lower passenger decks, the openings being provided with glass doors which can stand a heat of 1600 degrees. The smoke water-tight doors are fitted with special plates, and the main compartments are carefully secured against fire. The danger of a collision during foggy weather is minimized by means of the explosion of signals under water, which announces the approach to other vessels. Added to all this, there are loud recording telephones, searchlights of enormous power and signal guns on board. There are eighty-three lifeboats, capable of holding the entire complement of passengers and crew; several motorboats, numerous life-buoys, and hundreds of lifeboats complete the life-saving apparatus of this modern sea colossus. It obtains quicker and more centralized results. It provides a method of intensive cultivation. "It has a peculiarly awakening effect upon a community because while the men and women of, say, Philadelphia, Chicago, or Milwaukee might know in a detached sort of way about national products, the importance of their own use is strongly impressed upon them by the rather personal application of articles advertised in newspapers, to their own lives and affairs."
